ALBERTO TONINI, Alle origini dell’ingerenza umanitaria: le Potenze europee e la questione armena alla fine del XIX secolo.

ABSTRACT - Based on diplomatic documents recently published by the Italian Ministry for Foreign Affairs, this essay presents the European powers’ policy concerning the Armenian question during the last decade of the XIXth century. Author’s attention is focused on the heavy massacres occurred in 1894-95 and on the European powers’ decision to set up an international commission to inquire into the massacres. Describing those events, however, he offers an insight about the state of relations between the Ottoman Empire and the European powers during the last part of the XIXth century.
